

Your office buddy learns there is free food scattered around the office, but she is stuck in a meeting and cannot get it. She asks you to get food and bring it back to her.

Your mission is to scope out potential obstacles, collect the snacks, and bring them back to share with your friend.

However, you must be careful to avoid those chatty Kathys in the office. They'll want your help fixing thier computer and will interrupt the mission. If you try to pass through a square occupied by a coworker, you will have to start over – so pay attention!

Once you bring all the snacks back to your coworker, you complete the level.

Goodluck!